

ANTHONY PENKETH

VP of Business Development

Anthony Penketh is the Vice President of Business Development at ePractice Manager, a nationally recognized dental consulting firm with more than 30 years of experience helping dentists build stronger, more profitable, and better-managed practices. He brings a unique blend of corporate leadership and hands-on dental consulting, having trained more than 2,500 dentists and their teams on core business fundamentals such as new patient generation and increased case acceptance.

Earlier in his career, Anthony served as Head of Sales and Chief Marketing Officer at ClearCorrect for nearly nine years, where he helped grow the company from a startup serving a few hundred dentists to more than 10,000 providers before its acquisition by the Straumann Group. Today, Anthony focuses on helping dentists implement proven personnel, training, and management systems that enable them to prioritize patient care while building sustainable, successful practices.
